Are you a carer?

If you provide emotional and practical support to someone who might not manage on their own without your help, you are a carer, regardless of your age, gender, racial, ethnic, or religious background.

The person you care for could be a family member, friend, or neighbour and your care could be help such as providing physical or emotional support or taking responsibility for their finances. You may not even recognise yourself as a carer.

Many people become carers willingly while others may feel they have no choice. Caring for someone can often be demanding, isolating, and stressful, and some carers may be worried about money or their own health.

Carers Gateway is proud to provide an opportunity for carers to meet one another in formal and informal settings that allow carers to exchange information, experiences, and obtain mutual support.

Carers Gateway offers carers impartial, confidential help.

Need A Break?

If you're a carer, you might need to take a break sometimes. A break from your caring role offers a range of benefits, such as allowing you to unwind and relax, taking time for yourself to do something you enjoy, and improve your own health and well-being. Here at Carers Gateway, we provide a range of opportunities to take a break and are here to support you no matter what your break looks like.

Young Carers

Carers Gateway also provides a range of services for Young Carers

- Advice and support
- Group Activities & Individual support
- Opportunities to learn new skills
